

YOUR SOULMATE READING

The vision of a man's face gradually appeared to me as I meditated with my eyes closed. He has blue eyes and a warm smile. He is of medium height and slender. His hair is light brown. He has fair skin. He is a bit older than you.

His possible zodiac sign: Taurus.

Your partner has certain qualities that will make you recognize him at the moment of contact. He will be devoted and committed to you and will expect the same in return. Once he is emotionally invested, he promises his loyalty for life. When he trusts his partner, he gives them his heart, spending his time adoring them.

However, being dominant, he can be a bit possessive and jealous.

This man appears calm and composed on the surface. But when you look deeper, you'll find he is passionate about everything in his life. He is a mix of intellect, emotions, and philosophy. Yet, at the same time, he is very generous and enjoys living his life luxuriously and to the fullest.

Because he is truly interested in you and serious about having a happy future, he will be a very reliable and loyal partner. He may stray only when he feels unloved, ignored, or dominated. Although he is easily seduced, he will appreciate you because you are warm and sensitive to him.

He will require affection and reaffirmation of your love for him. He also expects you to be faithful and loyal to him. As long as he has the reins and does not feel threatened, he will allow you to pursue your interests. Being reliable, caring, and understanding of his needs is the only way to reach his heart and have a long-term relationship with him. Note also that he is as demanding sexually as he is emotionally. This passionate man is a very romantic yet demanding partner.

Beneath his cool and composed nature, he is intensely emotional and moody. He has immense self-control and tries to hide his true emotions. You need to be considerate and understand his mood swings. Your man will try to control his negative emotions because he does not want to lose you. You can trust and depend on him to do the right things at the right time.

He brings a high level of energy and passion into the bedroom, and sex with him is powerful and emotional.

He will be attracted to you because he will find that you are independent, passionate about something, confident, sexual, and mysterious, just like him.

To get along with him, you must be eager to learn and accomplish, challenge him, be self-confident, and be able to form an emotional connection. He prefers emotional intimacy over physical intimacy; he wants to satisfy you no matter what. In fact, part of that satisfaction for him is giving you an experience that bonds you or borders on the spiritual.

This man will face the hostile world with his head held high because he loves you. He thinks you are the right choice; he will love you with all his heart and strive to win you over. Do not lose him, for he will be the most loyal and caring man to spend your life with!

I also saw several letters from his name, such as T, I, D, S. Please note that these letters may be present not only in the first letters of his name but also in his middle name or surname. Before starting your journey with your soulmate, I see that you still have a journey ahead.

Establishing your lasting relationship with him is still 6 months away. You will meet in a supermarket...

I hope this reading finds you well. I want you to take the time to read and reread this. If you need any clarification regarding this reading, do not hesitate to send me your request.

Please come to me with any questions you have. It really doesn't bother me.

I want you to feel comfortable and understand your reading. Once again, I truly appreciate you purchasing this reading and allowing me to be a part of your life.

Thank you. Blessings to you.

Many good wishes,

I wish you good luck on your journey.

5 HIDDEN DESIRES OF YOUR SOULMATE

In this chapter, we will explore the five hidden desires of your soulmate and how you can fulfill them to create a deep and meaningful connection. Understanding and meeting these desires can not only attract a man but also build a healthy and lasting relationship.

Desire for Respect

Respect is fundamental to any relationship. Men, in particular, want to be respected for their opinions, decisions, and efforts.

How to fulfill it?

- Value his opinions: Show genuine interest in what he thinks and feels. Ask about his ideas and listen carefully.
- Support his decisions: Even if you don't agree with everything, support his choices and discuss differences with respect and understanding.

- Acknowledge his efforts: Thank and appreciate the things he does, both big and small. Positive recognition reinforces respectful and collaborative behavior.

Desire for Appreciation

Men want to feel appreciated for who they are and what they do. Appreciation goes beyond respect; it is the acknowledgment and gratitude for their efforts and qualities.

How to fulfill it?

- Compliment his qualities: Give sincere compliments about his skills, character, and achievements.
- Show gratitude: Frequently express your gratitude for his presence in your life and for his actions that contribute to the relationship.
- Gestures of affection: Small gestures like a loving message, an unexpected hug, or a thank-you note can make a big difference.

Desire for Companionship

Men desire a partner who shares common interests and with whom they can spend quality time, whether in recreational activities or in everyday life.

How to fulfill it?

- Share interests: Take part in activities he enjoys and share yours as well. Finding common hobbies strengthens the bond.
- Be present: Be by his side at important moments, offering support and celebration.
- Create memories together: Plan activities and trips that you can both enjoy, building happy and meaningful memories.

Desire for Intimacy

Intimacy goes beyond the physical; it includes emotional connection and vulnerability. Men desire a partner with whom they can truly be themselves.

How to fulfill it?

- Build an emotional connection: Share your feelings and create a safe environment for him to do the same.
- Enhance physical intimacy: Explore and understand his preferences, ensuring that both feel satisfied and connected.
- Be vulnerable: Show your true self, allowing him to do the same, creating a solid foundation of trust and openness.

Desire to Be Needed

Men want to feel needed in a relationship, that their actions have a positive impact, and that they make a difference in their partner's life.

How to fulfill it?

- Ask for help and advice: Involve him in decisions and ask for his opinion, showing that you value his skills and insights.
- Value his contributions: Thank and acknowledge the ways he contributes to your well-being and the relationship.
- Show healthy dependence: Demonstrate that you rely on him, without being overly dependent, creating a balance between independence and partnership.

HOW TO STAY ON HER MIND

Keeping yourself in a man's mind and creating a lasting connection goes beyond just attracting his initial attention. It's about building a memorable and meaningful presence in his life. Here are some effective attitudes a person can adopt to ensure he always thinks of you.

Demonstrate Confidence

Why is it important?

Confidence is a highly attractive and unforgettable quality. Men tend to remember people who exhibit self-assurance in themselves and their actions.

How to do it?

- Be authentic: Don't try to be someone you're not. Embrace your qualities and flaws, and present yourself as you truly are.
- Take the initiative: Don't be afraid to make decisions or suggest plans. Taking the lead demonstrates self-sufficiency and leadership.
- Maintain a positive attitude: Avoid speaking negatively about yourself or others. Keep an optimistic and confident posture.

Show Genuine Interest

Why is it important?

Men feel valued when someone shows genuine interest in their lives, opinions, and feelings.

How to do it?

- Ask questions: Show curiosity about his life, passions, and experiences. Open-ended questions encourage deep conversations.

- Listen actively: Pay attention to what he says, make eye contact, and respond in an engaged manner.
- Remember details: Show you care by remembering important things he has mentioned and bringing them up in future conversations.

Be Surprising

Why is it important?

Surprises keep the relationship exciting and unpredictable, leaving a lasting impression.

How to do it?

- Plan surprises: Do something unexpected from time to time, like a spontaneous trip or a thoughtful gift.
- Be spontaneous: Suggest unexpected activities or small adventures that break the routine.
- Keep some mystery: Don't reveal everything about yourself at once. Leave room for him to discover more about you over time.

Cultivate Independence

Why is it important?

An independent person is seen as self-sufficient and capable, which is highly attractive and memorable.

How to do it?

- Have your own interests: Keep hobbies and activities you love, regardless of the relationship.
- Stand by your opinions: Express your ideas and points of view assertively.
- Value your time: Show that you have a full and balanced life, with or without him.

Be Affectionate and Loving

Why is it important?

Small gestures of affection and love create positive memories and reinforce the emotional connection.

How to do it?

- Gestures of affection: Show affection through gentle touches, hugs, and kisses. Small physical gestures can leave a lasting mark.
- Words of affirmation: Tell him how important he is to you and how much you appreciate his qualities and actions.
- Acts of service: Do little things to make his life easier, like preparing his favorite meal or helping with a task.

Show Intelligence and Engagement

Why is it important?

Intelligence and the ability to have deep conversations are highly valued and leave a lasting impression.

How to do it?

- Engage in meaningful conversations: Discuss topics beyond the superficial. Show interest in intellectual and deep subjects.
- Share knowledge: Don't be afraid to show your skills and knowledge in areas where you excel.
- Be curious: Show interest in learning new things and be open to new ideas.

Be Positive and Fun

Why is it important?

A positive attitude and contagious sense of humor make him want to be around you and think of you fondly.

How to do it?

- Laugh and make him laugh: Never underestimate the power of laughter. Share funny moments and don't take everything too seriously.
- Keep things light: Find joy in the small things and convey this positivity to him.
- Create fun memories: Plan enjoyable and pleasant activities that leave happy memories.

By adopting these attitudes, you will not only stay on his mind but also build a solid foundation for a deep and meaningful relationship. Remember that authenticity and sincerity are key to any lasting connection. Be yourself and let your personality shine.

PATH LIFE

In the echoes of time, where souls weave their intricate dance across lifetimes, you and your soulmate have met before. A love so profound, so destined, that the universe orchestrated your encounters time and again, ensuring that no matter the age, no matter the world, your spirits would find each other.

A Love Written in the Stars Centuries ago, in a quiet village by the sea, your eyes met his beneath the golden light of a setting sun. He was a scholar, his mind vast with knowledge, his heart filled with passion. His blue eyes held the wisdom of the world, yet they softened when they looked upon you. You were a healer, your touch soothing, your presence a sanctuary in a chaotic world. From the moment he saw you, he knew—you were the missing piece to his existence.

But fate is not always kind. A war tore him away from you, forcing him into the service of a king who sought to claim more than just land. With each battle, he carried a locket with a strand of your hair, whispering your name in the dead of night. And though years passed, and the tides of war raged, his heart remained tethered to yours. When he finally returned, battle-worn and weary, you were there, waiting, as though time had stood still just for the two of you.

Another Lifetime, Another Chance In another existence, during the Renaissance, you met once more. This time, he was an artist, his hands painting the very essence of beauty onto canvas, while you were his muse. Your face adorned his most famous work, a masterpiece that would stand the test of time. But society deemed your love forbidden, for you belonged to another. The longing, the stolen glances across crowded rooms, the whispered confessions in candlelit halls—all were fleeting moments in a love that burned brightly yet could never fully bloom.

One evening, under the cloak of darkness, you both made a vow beneath the stars. If not in this life, then in the next, you would find each other again. And so, you did.

The Era of Letters and Longing Fast forward to the 19th century, where words carried the weight of hearts. He was a writer, his prose laced with emotions only you could understand. You were a poet, weaving verses that spoke directly to his soul. You never met in person, yet through ink and parchment, your spirits danced. Each letter was a promise, each verse a confession, until one day, destiny intervened. You finally crossed paths, recognizing each other in an instant, as though the universe had conspired to bring you together once more.

Now, in This Lifetime The past has been a series of near-misses and fleeting encounters, but this time, destiny is unwavering. This time, the stars have aligned in your favor. Soon, in a mundane moment—perhaps in a supermarket aisle—you will see him again. His blue eyes will hold that same warmth, his presence will feel like home, and your soul will whisper, There you are.

Though you have walked through lifetimes apart, every step has led you back to him. This time, you are ready. This time, love will not slip through your fingers. This time, forever begins.

Be patient. He is coming. And when he does, remember the love that has spanned centuries, and hold it close, for this is the lifetime where you finally get to stay.